Flying Too High Phryne Fisher

Flying Too High, set in Melbourne, Australia in the 1920s, features fictional detective Phryne Fisher as she attempts to resolve a homicide case as well as solve the kidnapping of a small child. She is engaged by a woman who fears that her hot-tempered son, an aviation instructor, will kill his own father over a business dispute.

Flying Too High - Wikipedia

Flying Too High is great escapist literature. Phryne Fisher is a Girls Own heroine with pots of money, a decidedly modern take on sexual relations and more skills than is humanly possible (eg crack shot, stunt piloting and driving in this novel). Not to be taken seriously there is a strong vein of sly humour throughout which adds to the fun.

Flying Too High: Miss Phryne Fisher Investigates ...

Phryne's motivation to take up private detection as a career is rooted, at least initially, in boredom with the activities of high society in England. Although she did previously engage in charitable works, Phryne noted that "the company of the Charitable Ladies was not good for her temper." In Flying Too High, Phryne Fisher decides to settle ...
